The Early College High School Program gives students the support needed to begin their college experience during their high schools years. The program is designed to provide more students with the opportunity to attend college and to better prepare young people for success in college. Bloomington Early College will offer dual credit classes during high school and provide students with the tools for success through tutoring, mentoring, and study skills instruction.

Early College programs will be available at both Bloomington High School North and South in the Fall of 2008. Please plan to attend one of these two community events to learn more about how Early College will offer Bloomington students another option for high school education and for 21st Century success.
